1. [REDACTED] the New Democratic Youth Corps (NDYC) started the selection of over 300 NDYC cadres from various parts of China to visit the USSR on the invitation of the Soviet Communist Youth Corps.¹ The first team, consisting of 89 persons, left Peiping on 27 July, and a second team, consisting of 103 persons, left on 1 November.
2. FENG Wen-pin (馮文彬), secretary of the NDYC, and Chu-hai-i-no-fu (朱海伊諾夫), secretary of the Soviet Communist Youth Corps were placed in charge of arrangements for the visit.
3. It was planned that the Chinese would devote three months to studying the organization and work of the Soviet Communist Youth Corps and the leadership of members of the organizations by the cadres. An additional month was to be devoted to visiting museums, laboratories, factories, cities, and Youth Vanguard Camps. The whole visit was expected to last four months.
